NEWS

We are looking forward to another great week here at daycare!

This week, we will focus on being thankful. We will explore things to be grateful for and learn when to say "thank you."

WOCS is hosting a book fair this week in the gym. I will post about Family Night on GroupMe in case you would like to attend.

The daycare is in need of board books to support our curriculum. I will also share an Amazon link with some recommended board books. Please note that the books do not have to come from Amazon; the link is simply a way to show what we're looking for.

Thank you for all your help!

Best,
Ms. Renee Johnson
